VOL. 17, NUMBER 82 — MONESSEN, PA TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1918 — TWO CENTS PER COPY

REV. DANIEL L. MARSH ELOQUENT PITTSBURGH PASTOR WILL SPEAK HERE SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 29

Word has been received here by the speaking committee of the Fourth Liberty Loan that Rev. Daniel L. Marsh will be the speaker of the day on Sept. 27 when the campaign opens. At least he will be one of the speakers. Dr. Marsh has just returned from France where he spent three months in the interest of Y. M. C. A. work. His coming at this time was the means of conveying to many parents personal messages of their sons in the army.

Dr. Marsh was called to the bedside of the wounded son of George W. Deeds, county commissioner almost immediately after young Deeds was brought into the base hospital. He saw and visited with the sons of many parents in and about Pittsburgh and he plucked a flower on the grave of a Monongahela boy and delivered it to the sorrowing parents upon his return.

Rev. Marsh for many years has been identified with the Methodist Episcopal Union of Pittsburgh, and he has not only won fame as a church worker, but as a public speaker and lecturer he has been successful. When this country declared war against Germany, Dr. Marsh devoted himself to the welfare of humanity and studied and lectured for the cause of the allies. He was recently commissioned to work in France where he gained many experiences direct from the war front.

He will come to Monessen and deliver to us the message of the American sons fresh from the front. He will tell of the optimism of the American army and show us the necessity of sustaining our fighting armies with our dollars. We have had a personal acquaintance with this man for a number of years and enjoyed the hardships of primary studies in the country school when innocent childhood had not yet reflected upon a war with Germany and her allies. We swapped "cookies" over the desk and solved problems together and we are assured that the message the speaker will bring, with his force and eloquence as a platform man, will interest teh thousands. His letter of acceptance follows:

Mr. H. Dallas McCabe,
47 Sixth Street,
Monessen, Penna.

My dear Mr. McCabe:—

Replying to your letter of September 9th, will say that if you will have a machine at Buena Vista Methodist Episcopal church, Buena Vista St., North Side, at the close of the Sunday morning service, Sept. 29th, to convey me to Monessen, and then will send me back in the machine that will land me at the Carrick Methodist Episcopal church at 6:30, waiting there for me until 7:30 and then bring me to the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal schurch for an eight o'clock service, I shall be very glad to comply with your request and speak in Monessen on the afternoon of that day. My reason for laying out this itinerary is because I must fill these engagements, and if you have a machine that is marked "Liberty Loan Committee," it will be relatively easy for you to have me conveyed from point to point.

Trusting that there may be high success for the enterprise, I am,

Sincerely yours
Daniel L. Marsh.

Wild Steer Keeps Children From School

For several days past the Gibsonton school has not been well attended on account of the fear scholars had of a wild steer that escaped from a slaughter house and domiciled in a nearby pasture. The beast escaped a few days ago from a herd being transported from the Lock Four station to the slaughter house of Louis Altberger at Wireton. As mentioned in yesterday's paper the animal roamed over the hills to a pasture in the vicinity of the Gibsonton school where he made attacks on several people, having run several school children to shelter. During the hours the steer was at large, a search was being made for him, but he had been at liberty almost a week during which time he had attacked a man and almost stripped him of his clothing and had diminished the attendance of the school almost one half on account of fear the scholars held of encountering the animal on their way to school. Last night about dusk seachers came upon the steer and he was shot down and brought to the slaughter house in a truck and the anxiety in the neighborhood is at an end.

Appointed Chairman of Belgian Relief

Mr. James G. Griffith, the genial assistant superintendent of the Tri-Cities Water company has been appointed chairman of the Belgian Relief Clothing committee for the Monessen-Belle Vernon Chapter American Red Cross. Mr. Griffiths has been empowered to apoint his own committee. His district includes Monessen, Belle Vernon and Rostraver township.

Last year the collection of clothing for use in Belgium was handled by Mr E. L. Hibbs, assisted by Mrs John Murphy. The campaign was very successful, yielding over 5,000 tons of clothing. The Junior Red Cross in both Belle Vernon and Monessen rendered very effective assistance.

WILL FURNISH MANY QUALIFIED MEN

Draft cards announced yesterday by Provost Marshal General Crowder will send 181,838 men qualified for general military service to Army camps before October 16. All states have quotas to fill. Of the total 142,000 will be white registrants, who will entrain between October 7 and 11. The remainder will be negroes who will move in two groups, 29,016 entraining between September 25 and 27, and 10,752 on October 16.

Men who registered last Thursday may be needed in a few districts to fill the new quotas, it was said at the provost marshal general's office, but in most localities sufficient men remain in Class 1 from the registrations of last June 5 and August 24 to meet the requirements.

Of the number to be called, Pennsylvania will send 9,000 whites to Camp Lee, 2,467 whites to Camp Humphries and 1500 negroes to Upton, L. I.

"The Great Love" a Remarkable Picture

The announcement that David W. Griffith's first picture production for Artcraft, "The Great Love," a remarkable photoplay in which Queen Alexandra and many women of the British nobility are pictured, is to be presented at the Olympic Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 18 and 19 and has caused a profound sensation among our clientele.

This is the first time that the great productions of Mr. Griffith, the man who created "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "Hearts of the World" and other screen triumphs, are available to the general public at regular prices, and for the first time also, Mr. Griffith's famous stars, including Lillian Gish, Henry B. Walthall, Robert Herron, George Fawcett and others, are seen in Artcraft pictures.

"The Great Love" is in every respect a splendid photoplay of love, war and national devotion to the service of country and world democracy. It is a production fully up to the high standard of artistry for which the name of Griffith stands and for which he has become famous in the field of the silent drama.

We know of no cinema production that surpasses in beauty and popular interest those bearing the Griffith-Artcraft trade mark and we recommend "The Great Love" to you with the firm conviction that you will acclaim it one of the very best spectacles ever displayed at the Olympic theatre. 1t

Chief Marshall Appoints His Aids

Chief Marshal Jesse Hancock of the Fourth Liberty Bond campaign parade Sunday, Sep. 29, this morning announced a staff of nine aids. In their selection he says he paid most attention to fitness and experience, in as many cases as possible naming men who have themselves served as chief marshals on other occasions.

Those named who will receive their notice of appointment this afternoon are J. J. Cushing, Eli H. Wolf, Louis X. Ely, James Hannigan, E. M. Frye, J. M. Patton, A. E. Thomas, C. R. New and John S. Duvall. The preliminary meeting for organization and first plans has been called at the Peoples bank tomorrow evening at 4 o'clock, when it is expected that every member will be present.

FORMER MONESSEN BOY WILL HONOR TOWN BY VISIT. HAS MADE GOOD WITH FRENCH ARMY

Monessen is to be honored today with a visit from Lieut. George Payen of the French army. What makes his visit of particular interest to the people of Monessen and vicinity is the large acquaintance which Lieut. Payen has in this district.

George was graduated from the Monessen High school and has spent most of his boyhood days in our town. For nearly a year he was employed at the office of the Daily Independent. His name is to be found on the town Honor Roll tablet and on the honor roll of the Monessen High school.

At the outbreak of the war between France and Germany, Lieut. Payen happened to be visiting relatives in France, and being of French blood, he immediately enlisted in the French army. As a private soldier he took part for nearly a year on the firing line, helping the French patriots to stem the German invasion. George soon made good as a private and was advanced to the rank of First Lieutenant. After short service at the front as an officer, he was appointed as instructor of officers at the big French Training School at Castle Fontainlebleu, continuing in this capacity until April of this year, when the French government loaned his services to the American government, since which time Lieut. Payen has been an instructor of army officers at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Chairman McCabe of the Red Cross, received a telegram this morning from Lieut. Payen saying he would pay Monessen a short visit.

FARARI SHOWS LEAVE TO APPEAR IN ALTOONA

The Ferari carnival company which was to have shown here this week, has finally cancelled the engagement and will go to Altoona to fill an engagement next week. The attraction was to help finance the Home Defense Police and it was through mutual arrangement between the carnival company and the committee representing this organization that it was finally agreed to cancel the show here. The popularity contest which will furnish prizes to winners will be continued as per schedule.

Upon the arrival here the company foresaw great hardship to unload and show, even starting in the middle of the week and after experiencing almost insurmountable obstacles in transporting the big wagons down the steep grade at the Donora bridge it was decided to make an amicable adjustment and call the show off. Steps were at once taken to reload the big wagons and prepare for the journey to Altoona.

It is a tremendous undertaking to transport an aggregation of attractions like is carried by the Farari company during war times with the difficulties of transportation and the trouble of obtaining a government permit every time you turn. The disappointment here will cost the company $2500.00.

Parents Hear From Sergt. Harry Brandis

Mrs. Harry L. Brandis of 49 E. Donner avenue, has received the following letter from her son, Sgt. Harry L. Brandis, with the 305th Motor Supply Train in France:

France, Aug. 14, 1918.

Dear Mother:

I received your first letter today and was glad to hear from you. Tell Dad to tell the boys at the Elks that we had a meeting last night, there were eight members present. While I was touring through France I ran into John Fohl, Dutch Alexander, Bohn Burnett, and some others whose names I don't remember, but they were all Elks, so you know we had a good time together. This world is not so big that you can't see some one you know. They have been over here for thirteen months and have never heard a rifle shot. I have been here two months and have been to the front and back and want to go back again, it is great to hear and see the airplanes fighting. The place where I was a couple of weeks ago was blown off the map the other day. Henry Lafferty is here, but I have not seen him. Tell Dad I have remembered his word and am doing my best and will work harder still, there is a chance for every man in the army if he tries and does what he is told. We are allowed to drink beer and wine, but if you get drunk, it is all up with you. Well this will be all for this time. Give all the people my best and tell them to write to me once in a while.

Your son,
Sgt. Harry L. Brandis.

Will Russia Come Back?

RUSSIA is sorely beset by foes without and revolution within. Some say that she will come back, not to autocracy, but to democracy. We hope that much good is in store for Russia and wish her success in establishing and maintaining a substantial government.

PARTNERS IN BUSINESS

ONE WOMAN'S IDEA OF MODERN CONNUBIAL RELATIONS.

Co-operation in the Home She Puts Forward as a Panacea for Matrimonial Troubles, and She Is Experienced.

"Since women have come to play so active a part in the world of work the necessity has arisen to consider the home as a business institution," says Mrs Ida T Upshaw, superintendent of the bureau of domestic relations, connected with the department of charities Mrs Upshaw is constantly called upon to consider other persons' domestic troubles, and in many instances to aid in straightening out a family struggle So she should be qualified to judge of the elements necessary to make a successful home

"It is not necessary in the very poor homes to advise business co-operation In these homes they are obliged to figure closely to make both ends meet They practice every day stringent domestic economy that they have learned by hard experience It is the homes of the middle class where training is lacking The young women have gone from their schoolrooms directly to the office and from the office to their new homes as brides, with responsibilities thrust suddenly upon them of which they know little or nothing Frequently they are pitifully ignorant of even the simplest household economies

"On the husband's part the beginning is made in just as sad a way Not one man out of ten, as a rule, has the slightest idea of what it costs to maintain a home, outside of the rent and, possibly, the gas bill, even in the latter item he is sometimes far wrong The young men come from homes where things have been taken care of by a mother, who has learned her lesson years ago, or from hotel or boarding house, where problems of the house were never presented to them

"Co-operation is necesary in the home When a young husband hands the wife a certain amount of money each week for the maintenance of the family, and she finds it not enough the trouble begins, although the wife may have done her best The domestic relations court is continually hearing cases based on that trouble

"Housekeeping is the woman's field, once upon a time it was her undisputed domain But it would be well for men to understand the science of domestic economy If they did it would go a long way toward avoiding domestic wrangles.

"The time must come when educational institutions will recognize that a business partnership of husband and wife is necessary; then there will be taught to men and women alike the science of domestic economy. It will not only keep their money affairs in order, but it will hold husband and wife closer together. The sense of a common interest in the home has saved many a family from dissolution

"To caution young married people to live within their means is proper enough, but they should at the same time be taught how to economize."—Boston Globe.

Strong Argument.

Pianos on the instalment principle was his theme. You pay three dollars a week and torture the neighbors

As he knocked gently at one door he suddenly remembered he had been here before and received a curt refusal This time it was different, says the New York Mail

"Oh, it's you again, is it?" asked the housewife cordially "Come in, won't you?"

Full of hope, he entered and followed her down a dimly lighted hall She threw open a door and he walked in, to hear the key click sharply in the lock behind him

He was locked in a room with five children all bowling, who beat even their own records at the sight of a stranger

And the woman resumed her washing

An hour later she came to his rescue.

"Now," she said, sweetly, "if you still think I need more music in this house, I am ready to listen to you."

But he had gone before she had finished.

A mill chimney at Darwen, England, five years ago at a cost of $60,000 The ownership of the land upon which it stands was in dispute and it was agreed that the claimant who should put up the most expensive structure for practical use should have the land The chimney was erected, and as a consequence the mill owner became the proprietor The total height of the chimney is 310 feet The foundation is a solid block of stone, on which is a stone pedestal forty two feet in height, bearing a massive stone cornice thirty five feet long on each side The shaft rising from this pedestal is twenty-four feet square, constructed of red, white and black brick, with sandstone trimmings—Popular Mechanics

Vegetables as Hair Ornaments

Now that fruit has reached the hair, in the shape of little oranges for the bride's coiffure, will it come to vegetable again, as it did among the absurdities of Marie Antoinette's time? "Ask my niece, Mme de Matignon" we read in the memoirs of the Marquise de Cregny "if it is not true that in 1785 she had her head dressed a la jardiniere, with a red check duster, into which M Leonard (the queen's hair dresser) had artistically inserted a small artichoke, a broccoli, a fine carrot and some radishes When Dondou Picot (the Comtesse de Lameth-Picot, a rich creole) saw it she was so delighted that she exclaimed, "I will never wear anything but vegetables It is so simple, and more natural than flowers."

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters It is inexpensive, cannot

IN THE DAYS OF SASSAFRAS

Father Could Be Relied On to See That Our Blood Was Thinned Properly.

A man in Joplin, Mo., says that he has lived to be ninety-two years old by drinking sassafras tea.

We have lived in Missouri ourself, and worse than that, we have tasted sassafras tea We don't envy the Joplin gentleman in the least Our father always liked sassafras tea—that is, he always liked for us to take it He said it thinned the blood in the spring Then he would catch us, hold both of our hands, and proceed to thin our blood He would pour the tea down our throat and hold our nose till we had to breathe and swallow it We would yell at the top of our voice and tell him we would rather have blood like molasses than take any more of that tea, but he would only reach for another cup and our nose Mother would stand there sad, but cheering us by telling us how much better we would feel after our blood got thin and how all growing boys needed it and how Susan took it without a word

If you would listen to father you would think our blood was as thick as sausage and that we'd never see May flowers unless he held our nose twice a day Father was good at that. He didn't know anything about jiu-jitsu or half nelsons, but when he reached for us to have our blood thinned we couldn't lift an eyebrow until the last bit of sassafras was drained

It took a surprising amount of sassafras to thin a person's blood It seemed enough to us to raise Clear creek before father would say "Well, son the tea seems to be doing its work You can stop now and take it only every other day"—Homer Cray, in Judge

AS YOUNG AS YOUR KIDNEYS

Perils of the Late Afternoon.

Late in the afternoon is the perilous hour for all day workers Not only do statistics prove it, but there is an easily understandable physiological explanation for it. For it is toward the end of the day's work that fatigue comes on, and tired bodies and brains inevitably lead to mistakes and accidents

"Bank clerks," says the Medical Record, "make most of the errors in the late afternoon, wherefore there is now early closing of these institutions since bankers have found their employees' mistakes too expensive for the maintenance of longer hours Everyone knows what dreadful calamity must be feared when railway men work too many hours through many days As to druggists, to err (with perhaps fatal consequences) in the filling of a prescription is indeed human and hardly blameworthy in a clerk who must be attentively at his post almost two-thirds of the twenty-four hours Among industrial workers the desire for drink has often sprung from sheer physical exhaustion."

I'LL TAKE POSTUM!

—you hear it more and more when one is asked what he'll have for his morning drink.

Delightful aroma and taste, and freedom from the discomforts that go with coffee.

Nourishing healthful, economical.

NO WASTE at all—an important item these days. Give INSTANT POSTUM a trial.

PREYED ON THE DEAD

GRUESOME CALLING FOLLOWED BY "RESURRECTIONISTS."

In Great Britain Comparatively a Short Time Ago Surgeons Paid Well for Bodies Brought Them for Dissection.

In the days of the Resurrectionists in Great Britain various means were devised to prevent the nefarious practice of body-snatching Recumbent stones of huge dimensions were frequently placed over tombs in lonely churchyards, while burying places were often made unapproachable by the erection of massive railings The services of the local blacksmith were also requisitioned to fasten strong bars of iron over the coffins to prevent the possibility of the body being uplifted from its resting place

In many churchyards watch houses were erected at the door of which after an interment careful watch and ward was kept, and not a few tales were told of mysterious beings surprised in the midst of their ghostly depredations

In a few places mort safes or dead houses were constructed in which the dead bodies were allowed to remain several weeks or until such length of time as they were no longer serviceable for dissecting purposes An interesting specimen of the above is to be seen in the quaint churchyard at the ruined Church of Cowie, near Stonehaven This was a favorite haunt of the Resurrectionists from Aberdeen

The corpses were conveyed in dog carts to the Granite City With a view to escape detection the lifeless figures were clad once more in the garb of the living and placed on the conveyance in a sitting posture

The story is told, says a writer in the Glasgow News, how on one occasion a party of Resurrectionists stopped at a wayside inn for refreshments, when all partook of the same at the door of the inn The innkeeper, noticing the silent figure of one of their number left alone in the conveyance, remarked "Will yer freend no' tak' a dram?" Without saying a word the party instantly mounted and drove off leaving mine host, who was not without his suspicions, to draw his own conclusions as to the calling of his visitors

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS OF THE COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, AT THE ELECTION TO BE HELD ON TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5 1918 BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII OF THE CONSTITUTION

Number One.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article nine, section four of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorizing the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the improvement of the highways of the Commonwealth

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof.—

That section four of article nine, which reads as follows.

"Section 4 No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State, except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue, repel invasion suppress insurrection, defend the State in war, or to pay existing debt, and the debt created to supply deficiency in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate, at any one time one million dollars," be amended so as to read as follows

Section 4. No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State, except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue repel invasion suppress insurrection defend the State in war, or to pay existing debt, and the debt created to supply deficiencies in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate at any one time one million dollars Provided however That the General Assembly, irrespective of any debt may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth

Section 2 Said proposed amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in the year nineteen hundred and eighteen, for the purpose of deciding upon the approval and ratification or the rejection of said amendment Said election shall be opened, held, and closed upon said election day, at the places and within the hours at and within which said election is directed to be opened, held, and closed and in accordance with the provisions of the laws of Pennsylvania governing elections, and amendments thereto Such amendment shall be printed upon the ballots in the form and manner prescribed by the election laws of Pennsylvania, and shall in all respects conform to the requirement of such laws

Proposing an amendment to section eight, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof —

Amendment to Article Nine, Section Eight

That section eight of article nine of the Constitution be amended by striking out the said section and inserting in place thereof the following —

Section 8 The debt of any county city, borough township school district, or other municipality or incorporated district except as provided herein, and in section fifteen of this article, shall never exceed seven (7) per centum upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein, but the debt of the city of Philadelphia may be increased in such amount that the total city debt of said city shall not exceed ten per centum (10) upon the assessed value of the taxable property therein nor shall any such municipality or district incur any new debt, or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding two (2) per centum upon such assessed valuation of property, without the consent of the electors thereof at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law. In ascertaining the borrowing capacity of the city of Philadelphia, at any time, there shall be deducted from such debt so much of the debt of said city as shall have been incurred, and the proceeds thereof expended, or about to be expended upon any public improvement or in the construction purchase, or condemnation of any public utility, or part thereof or facility therefor, if such public improvement or public utility, or part thereof, whether separately or by connection with any other public improvement or public utility or part thereof may reasonably be expected to yield revenue in excess of operating expenses sufficient to pay the interest and sinking fund charges thereon The method of determining such amount, so to be deducted, may be prescribed by the General Assembly

In incurring indebtedness for any purpose the city of Philadelphia may issue its obligations maturing not later than fifty (50) years from the date thereof, with provision for a sinking-fund sufficient to retire said obligations at maturity, the payment to such sinking fund to be in equal or graded annual or other periodical instalments. Where any indebtedness shall be or shall have been incurred by said city of Philadelphia for the purpose of the construction or improvements of public works or utilities of any character from which income or revenue is to be derived by said city, or for the reclamation of land to be used in the construction of wharves or docks owned or to be owned by said city such obligation may be in an amount sufficient to provide for and may include the amount of, the interest and sinking-fund charges accruing and which may accrue thereon throughout the period of construction and until the expiration of one year after the completion of the work for which said indebtedness shall have been incurred, and said city shall not be required to levy a tax to pay said interest and sinking-fund charges as required by section ten, article nine of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, until the expiration of said period of one year after the completion of said work

STRENUOUS IN HIS WOOING

Modern Lover Could Not Use the Method Employed by William the Conqueror

A modern lover who resorted to brute force to win his lady would soon find himself in the street, if not in the police station But fashions in proposals have changed in 1,000 years, and when William the Conqueror set out to make Matilda, daughter of the count of Flanders, the happiest of maidens, he adopted measures that were forcible, to say the least

The suitor Matilda had she did not want, and the man she wished to woo her she could not get The man she did not want happened to be William, duke of Normandy, and he decided to go to Bruges and conquer Matilda

There were no national roads through France in those days and William doubtless had a hard trip Perhaps Matilda noticed the mud on his clothes when she came out of church and found him waiting for her

At any rate, William descended from his horse and, taking Matilda firmly by the back of the neck, rolled her over and over in the mire of Bruges planting well directed blows upon her royal face and body with his other hand Life was elemental a thousand years ago

This strenuous love-making somehow appealed to Matilda Perhaps it was what she would have liked to do to Brihtric, the gentleman she could not get who was only the English ambassador at her father's court, and not at all a proper person to be snubbing a princess So Matilda sent word to her father that, "sick in health and dolorous in body," she had firmly resolved to marry no man but Duke William

Later after William had conquered England, he offered his queen the estates of any Englishnobleman she might name Matilda did not have to think twice She not only chose Brihtric's estates, but she put him in prison and kept him there all the rest of his life

TAKEN AT A DISADVANTAGE

Peculiating Darky Learned Something of the Range of Vision of Cross-Eyed Man.

A Front Row merchant in Memphis Tenn., who sells cotton on commission, also carries a general assortment of such goods as his country customers require This merchant is so cross-eyed that a customer cannot tell where he is looking

A negro from a cotton plantation came to bring some cotton to sell and buy some supplies of various kinds While the merchant was getting up the goods the negro stood by the counter, and to him it seemed that the white man had one eye looking toward the front and the other toward the back of the store. He was sure that the merchant was not looking at him, so he took up a pair of socks and stuffed them into his pockets.

"Here, you put them socks back," the owner said

"I ain't got none of your socks," said the darky

"Yes, you have got 'em," said the merchant "I saw you put them in your pocket"

"Mister, is you lookin' at me now?" inquired the darky.

"I sure am," he replied.

"Den here's your socks, boss."—Exchange

"The women are particularly good looking wear dark skirts, beautifully hand embroidered blouses, and a sort of long coat, with open sleeves of soft dove gray cloth Forbidden to wear European hats, they are compelled to adopt an exactly similar cap to the men, except that the crown is embroidered instead of bearing the royal initials"—Charles N. "O. Henry" Many Sided Genius.

Had not Sidney Porter, better known by his pen name, 'O Henry," decided on a literary career he might have won fame as a cartoonist, or even as a portrait painter, having natural talent in that direction It is related of him that when he worked for his uncle as a clerk, a very important acting gentleman came in one day and ordered some things which were to be charged. He assumed that the young 'clerk" knew him, and Porter did not like to admit himself unknown by betraying that he could not write the customer's name So instead he made a list of the articles sold and at the top jotted a drawing of the gentleman which enabled the uncle to identify the purchaser

CLING TO THEIR OWN WAYS

Many Reasons Why It Has Been Hard to Advance Civilization in the Congo Free State.

Here is an instance of how slavery is carried on in the Congo We had in our school a boy named Chiwahe. One day messengers arrived with the news that Chiwahe's father was dead. another man wounded, and that his mother and her children had been taken slaves. In the course of the next few days we got the details A sub-chief named Samalonga had owed a slave for some years to another sub-chief At last, being wearied of constant dinning, and possibly fearing an attack, he had made a night raid on this small village, killed one man, wounded another badly, and had seized all the women and children and everything of value in the village, and marched off. In telling the story the natives repeated asserted that Samalonga had had no previous trouble with Chiwahe's father, and they laughed heartily as if it were rather a good joke on the dead man that he had been thus involved.

In a year's time several such murders were perpetrated in our vicinity. Every man carried a gun if he ventured out of his village. Kazembe ridded himself of a troublesome adversary by shooting him down in cold blood. "That is the way of our fathers," he said proudly. And, naturally, he resented the interference of a European government.—Christian Herald.

FUEL ADMR. REFUSES TO SETTLE STRIKE

Fuel Administrator H A. Garfield has refused to treat with the 20,000 mine workers in the antracite coal fields who have gone on strike in an attempt to obtain higher wages. It was intimated in Washington last night that President Wilson might take charge of the situation within a day or two if the men do not go back to work and address to them a message similar in principles expressed in that he sent to the munition workers in Bridgeport, Conn.

Despite Fuel Administrator Garfield's announcement that the anthracite mine workers must return to work before their demands for increased wages will be considered, representatives of the men at Shamokin, last nigh declared that the suspension which went into effect yesterday will be continued More than 10,000 men and 15 colleries are idle in the Shamokin region alone. The miners voted unanimously last week to walk out to enforce speedy action in wage negotiations.

At their annual convention which opened yesterday at Nesquehoning, the United Mine Workers of the Seventh District unanimously adopted a resolution declaring against strikes at this time or threats of strikes to force the hand of the government in acting on the request of the men for a wage advance.

All the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company colleries in the Shenandoah and Mahonay regions were closed by strike yesterday. The men demand an increase in wages. This action was decided upon at a meeting of the mine locals held Sunday. About 25,000 miners are affected.

The strike of machinists and toolmakers in large Bridgeport munition factories has been ended, many men returning to work independently, while the large body of strikers, in mass meeting, after hearing read the letter of President Wilson to them, voted to return as a body

The meeting sent a reply to President Wilson reaffirming the loyalty of the strikers to the government and promising to return at once and do their part in keeping up the flow of munitions.

The strikers told the president they would take up their grievances in an orderly manner with the Taft-Walsh War Labor Board and asked his influence to get them an early hearing.

What Might Happen

A number of our exchanges have been speculating on what would happen if the government took over the newspapers. Well, the first thing the subscription price would be raised about 50 per cent and the sheriff would be kept busy chasing delinquents. The next step would be to raise wages about 25 per cent and editors, who hadn't had a cent in six months they could call their own, would be placed on a salary. The merchants who fail to get their ad copy in until press time would be hauled up before the council of defense and our linotype operator who hired out for two weeks and quit his job in o week would be sent to Leavenworth for about ten years as a deserter It looks like a good proposition, and we're for it.

.."My Own United States," picturizes the most interesting pages of American history. It is not a war picture, but a dramatic sensation presenting the inner struggle of a human soul. Philip Nolan, "the man without a country," is the dominating character around which this vitally dramatic story centers. This willful young man who became as "clay in the hands of the potter," Aaron Burr, is depicted, with great sincerity to facts, in his youthful romances and moments of tragic struggle All the finer artistry at the command of America's foremost actor, Mr Arnold Daly, is brought into play in portraying Nolan, in whom are combined the sensitiveness of an idealist and the recklessness of an adventurer

The entire picture is played against a chain of historic events—the duel of Hamilton and Burr, the battle of the famous frigate "Constitution" with the Algerian pirates, and other scenes of equal import, each of which is enacted with utmost fidelity. By special government permission, the original veteran of the American navy, the "Constitution" was used for the scenes transpiring on board "Old Ironsides."

"My Own United States" helps you to become better acquainted with the history of the greatest republic on the face of the globe—the United States of America —Olympic theatre today. 1t

Bonniwell Summons His Party Hosts

Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, Democratic candidate for governor, who was ignored by the Democratic state committee last Saturday in the adoption of a resolution indorsing party candidates, yesterday issued a call for a meeting of his supporters in Philadelphia next Monday to organize a state committee along the lines of the regular state committee.

The headquarters committee of the State Anti-Saloon League yesterday accepted a resolution indorsing Senator W C. Sproul, the Republican candidate for governor

The Wounded Man Speaks

By Henry Oyen
(of the Vigilantes.)

I left an ear in a dug-out
When a shell-hit made us dance:
And at Belleau Woods where the mixing was good
I gave up a mitt for France.

I lay on a cot a-smoking
And thought I was getting well:
But the moon was bright on the bomb-plane's sight
And the Gothas gave us hell.

They certainly spoiled my beauty;
And my leg is a twisted curve;
They busted me up like a mangled pup,
But—They did not bust my nerve.

I'll step off ship at Hoboken
And I'll say "Well, here I be.
Straight from Belleau Wood and it's understood
That nobody grieves for me"

And no pussy-footing sissy
Shall grab at my one good hand
And make me feel drunk with the good old bunk,
Just to make himself sound grand

For I'm damned if I'll be a hero
And I ain't a helpless slob;
After what I've stood, what is left is good,
And all I want is—A Job.

PAULINE FREDERICK in "Fedora" A Paramount Picture Olympic Theatre Today

FAMOUS GOLFER IN TRENCHES

Charles Leonard Fletcher, known internationally as "the globe trotting golfer," who has dug trenches with his niblicks in more links than any other pursuer of the elusive gutta percha, will soon be over in the land of trenches "what are trenches," where a drive is a drive and where the cry of "fore" makes one not only duck but also put on his gas mask.

Fletcher, whose wierd golfing experiences would fill a library and who can talk a phonograph blue in the face recounting them, was an actor of parts until last week when he changed his profession to a 24-hour-a-day servant of Uncle Sam in the capacity of a Y M. C A overseas man. Just before enlisting in the Red Triangle work, he played over his 216th course, the new Philmont links of Philadelphia.

Pauline Frederick in "La Tosca" Star Today

Pauline Frederick, who is appearing in "La Tosca" at the Star theatre today, made her debut as a daredevil at Ft. Marion, Florida, when she made a sensational fall of thirty feet from a paraphet of the fort into the water in the death scene in "Lt Tosca" The scene follows the killing of her lover, Mario, by the firing squad, after Tosca had stabbed Scarpia, the chief of police In escaping the pursuing soldiers, Tosca is supposed to be shot and fall into the water Miss Frederick could have allowed a "double" to do this scene for her, but Edward Jose, her director was not wrong in supposing that she would accomplish the feat to keep the picture up to the very high standard which prevails throughout It

TIME TO PLAN FOR THE FUTURE

By E. E. Harriman
(of the Vigilantes.)

This war will end some day. Some folks are already planning what they will do after it is over Are we?

I read the other day that the German and Austrian prisoners now in Russia have resolved, almost to a man, that they would not go back to their former homes when the war ended, but would emigrate to the United States and Canada. What will our twin countries say to them?

"Come right along, brother! Make yourself at home Take this chair. It has a higher back and thicker cushion. Have a glass of ice-cold beer with me I'll tell the wife and she will cook up a mess of sausage and make some biscuits and open her best canned fruit for you Let me adjust this stool under your trench shoes and offer a cigar to while away the time, till the dinner is ready"

Will we talk like that? Oh, will we?

If we do I shall start out on a hike into the frozen north and begin to live on whale steaks and seal blubber

Isn't it about time for us to begin to plan? Should we go on with our job of licking the Hun and never look ahead to the time when he is going to become an economic question? Should we let things slide till he is on the sea, coming over in any old bottom that he can rake up, prepared to grab off a lot of New World coin and land and help us make our laws nice and easy for the Hun at home?

Or will we tell the Hun in Europe to get inside the Hunnish lines and stay there, while he works out his own salvation? Shall we say to the Hun, who being in America and enjoying its advantages, has elected to go back to Hunland and join in the frightfulness that has been the backbone of Kaiser Bill's plan, that it was no more that should be expected and he is welcome to come home to us?

Shall we open our internment camps and let them spew out upon our land the rotten messes they now hold? Having a clean dish and wholesome food, shall we defile it with propagandists and spies and enemy agents? Having made our beds with clean sheets and pillowships and blankets, shall we turn the covers back and let the wallowing swine from the roadside mudhole creep within?

There is only one line of conduct that we can follow with honor and commonsense,and that is the line that will keep our bed and food and home clean. The line that will maintain the purity that we have attained through the refining by fire. We must say to the Hun in Europe, in Asia, anywhere he may be found.

"Get to work within the confines of your own country! Build up and purify your land. Purge it of the filth that clogs its spirit. Wash it clean of the evil it has clung to so long. Refine it with years of sacrifice and earnest work for the right. Then after the leaven has worked and passing decades have carried away the last grain of the old devlish doctrines and beliefs, then it is possible that the nations may grant you amnesty and let you go through the world once more. It is up to you. Get to work on yourself."

Letting the Hun wander at will after this war is over will be like leaving the line of fuse burning and merely cutting off the dead end and after the spark had crawled inward toward the magazine.

Allowing him to have the same old freedom to come to our shores would be as foolish, and as disastrous in the end, as it would be to smother a fire with cotton loosely piled

President Wilson and his advisers have a great many matters to handle and many questions to decide. Let us not leave them to do all the thinking or all the talking on this question. The American people are concerned to such a degree in this matter that they should not delegate to any man or body of men the task of thinking for them. They should do their own thinking and when they have had time to formulate a plan that looks feasible and thoroughgoing. they should say to their servants at Washington from the President down:

"Here' You put this through along the line we have laid down. It is no time for fooling or for doing party politics. Put up the bars and spike them fast, so no one can slip them. We have a stomachful and we must have time to digest it before we swallow any more."

Then get busy with the American of foreign birth and Americanize him or throw him over the bars, to the soil that bore him. We have no room in America for the man who shouts, "Hurrah for America!" and follows it with a whisper of "Gott sei dank, ich bin Deutscher."

PASTOR TO ATTEND ANNUAL CONFERENCE

WOMEN MUST HELP TO WIN THE WAR

One of the most insidious forms of German propaganda was launched in France among the women in the munition factories, according to Miss Roelofs, director of the Y. M C A. work abroad. Miss Roelofs is in this country on a short leave of absence, and during her visit to the headquarters of the Eastern department in Philadelphia, reviewed some of her experiences in France.

"When the new Man Power Law is in full operation," said Miss Roelofs, the women of America will begin to realize what the allies have known for the last three years of war. It is the fact that two thirds of the responsibility for victory rests upon the women. It is up to them to keep the war industries in full operation, to turn out munitions and uniforms, and at the same time maintain the morale of the fighting men by their courage.

Miss Reelofs declared that the Germans quickly discovered that the easiest method for breaking down the morale of France was through the women

"Women were the first to bear insidious of universal peace," Miss Roelofs said These came at a time when war apparently brought heavy defeat to France The women who were making shells and heavy guns were tired They were working and suffering far from the battle line. They did not share the excitement and glory that goes to the man in uniform. They toiled at their machines through long hours and cheerless disheartening days.

"The Germans counted on an easy civil revolt through the failure of these women, and they had in their favor the strain that accompanies "Hope Deferred" Then there were always increasing number of mutilated men who returned to their homes and were continual reminders of the heavy toll of war.

German propaganda counted on the tension of the women's nerves and the monotony of their lives. The Huns planned it carefully. In spite of themselves, the morale of the French women was breaking under the terrible emotional strain. It seemed for a while as though the woman's will to fight might fail France, and the Germans knew it.

"It was just at this point that both the French and American governments came to the Y. W. C. A. and asked for their help in bracing up the morale of the women of France.

"With a quick understanding of the situation, American women went over to bring recreation and some degree of comfort to French women. The first thing the Y. W C. A. did was to strengthen the ideals of the women in munition factories and tell them that the success of the war depended largely on them The governments of the allied nations know as the Y. W C A. did that these women must be kept at the highest point of efficiency to win.

"At the present time the Y. W C A is offering such help to the women of France though its recreational centers that it has already increased the efficiency of the women. Housing has been attended to. Women now have a more normal social relationship with their returned soldiers. because recreatin of all kinds has been provided. Training for leadership and the installing of patriotic ideas with a new understanding of what they are fighting for has been the first measure of service which this great organization of women was able to offer the allied government. The Y. W. C. A. certainly helped to turn the tide."
